🚨📧 I CALL THESE THE GRAPHENE OXIDE EMAILS

In the first email, a woman named Sandra is asking Steve if an answer is acceptable to a person inquiring about Graphene Oxide.

ignore the highlights, I didn't do them

I searched the words "Graphene oxide" in the Pfizer data base so it highlighted my key words.

Her suggested answer is in italics. An HONEST answer.

TRANSLATION: We can't promise you Graphene Oxide isn't in there because we get our stuff from all around the world and we can't control what they do.

REMEMBER: The vaccine comes in bags from Asia with only Asian writing on them. My plant simply filled that liquid in vials, inspected it, and packaged it.

Its the same as someone at a party can't guarantee there isn't hair or bugs in your food because they got it from somewhere else.

Thank you Sandra for your honest proposal..

🚨 BUT 🚨

What did Steve respond with?

The second screen shot. Again, ignore the highlights.

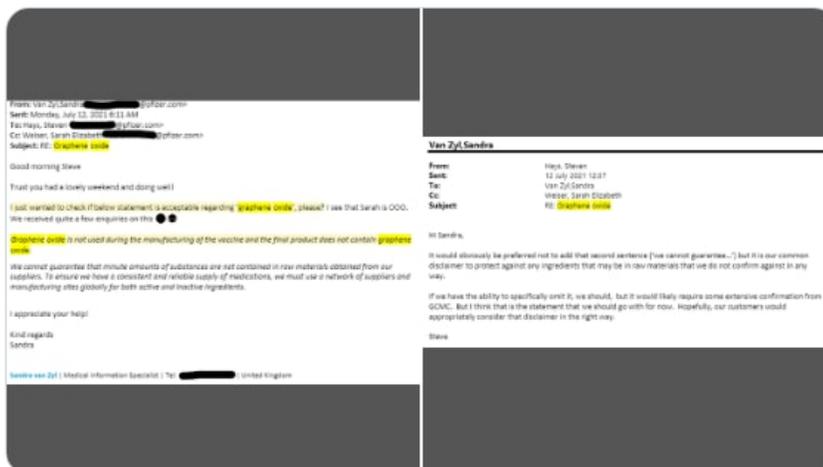

Steve says NOT TO ADD the "second sentence"

"we do not confirm against any ingredients that can be in raw materials"

"If we have the ability to SPECIFICALLY OMIT IT WE SHOULD"

Well, Steve. That's not transparent, nor does it give informed consent to your "customers" notice they didn't say patients they only care about the $$$

Stay tuned for more GO info
